OUR NEW YORK LETTER

Another Syndicate Formed to Bury the Paramount Issue.

POOR TEDDY HAS FALLEN

Property Shouters Less Arrogant and Bumptious Since the Boom Peered Out in Wall Street. People are Beginning to Understand—A Charming Senator—Proposed Incorporation of Gardens and Museum.

Wall Street, Sept. 23.—Another syndicate is formed for the purpose of burying "the paramount issue," free silver, composed principally of trimmers and those who masquerade as friends of Mr. Bryan. He is so strong with the masses of the people that a desperate attempt will be made to betray him and his cause (free silver) in the house of his friends. This syndicate has already raised heaven and earth to get the Nebraska giant to side-track free silver and to condone the crime of '73. What a shout of exultation would arise from the satellites and parasites of the money trust, if they could get him to repudiate free silver. Roosevelt has killed his Presidential chances by one little speech made to the farmers of this State, defending the canal thieves. Poor "Teddy" has fallen from his high estate into the web of the spider, and "Hungry Tom" has turned him down as a Presidential possibility. One little speech from Bryan, betraying his friends and surrendering to the money trust, would forever rise up against him like the ghost of Caesar, at Philippi. Ha! there is no fear of that, Bryan is honest. I have noticed that when Bryan's name is most cheered, it is when it is coupled with free silver. This was the case when that noble son of Dixie, Hogg, of Texas, made his coup d'état and new declaration of independence at the Tammany Fourth-of-July celebration. Fat old Grover said the people like to be well fooled and well pleased; but Mr. Lincoln contended they could not be fooled all the time. Now, I tell you, Mr. Editor, the people are tired of being fooled. Some of the scribes on the capitalist press here tell me that many of the "letters from the people" received by the editors fairly raise their hair or give them a nausea.

Since the "boom" has all petered out in Wall Street, the prosperity shouters are less arrogant and bumptious. The masses of the people would like to see a little of this "prosperity," for it is not, as you so ably contend, "a popular prosperity." It is confined to a few big roads and trusts, who have raised the wages of their employees some 25 per cent. from the zero point. "Contentment, wheat and all the products of this country," said the great and glorious Jones, of Nevada, to me at the Hoffman the other evening, "would be selling at double their present prices, with an increase of the legal tender money in proportion to the growth of the population and wealth of the country. As it is, we have a shrinking volume of money and with it must come falling prices." The money trust will try to tide over till after the Presidential election when, with the return of gold to Europe, where it belongs, I expect to see the great products lower than after McKinley's election.

"Certain parties who have acted on my judgment and profound and exhaustive study of economic analysis have made millions in the recent fall of stocks. Wall Street seems determined to be crucified. The air down there seems to be suffused with an insidious, stupefying and poisonous gas that defies analysis, like the poisons of Atledel and the Borgias. The money trust is the parent of all the trusts, and it is determined to issue and control the volume of the currency. To do this it would throw the country into another panic, for avarice is the blindest of all the passions."

"The people are beginning to understand that this country can absorb a tremendous amount of legal tender money when business revives and is in full swing. And they know that in the final analysis money is the token or representative of a debt due them from society and represents human sacrifice, and that a legal tender, redeemable in all things, has the same pledge of the wealth and resources behind it as a bond—the fiat of the people. "As long as the volume of money is shrinking there must continue the fierce competition and under-consumption which gives rise to the trusts. With a sufficient legal tender currency the masses of the people could afford to pay double the present prices for all the products, and they would have money to pay their taxes and improve their property. Now, the people who own real estate outside of New York are land poor. I have immense tracts of land on the coast which are a burden to me. Most of them are good properties, for I have never had any interest in silver mines. You who are familiar with my speeches in the Senate, my monetary reports and my five-day speech in the Brussels Conference know how right and prophetic they are in predicting the results of contraction, referring to myself, but I will say this: That I am profound, and go to the bottom of things. Such men as Bourke Cochran skim the surface. There are a lot of superficial performers who skim along on the surface and have made themselves and the currency question absurd and a sort of Chinese puzzle to many people. They give us the intrinsic value puzzle and get mixed in that and go back to some antediluvian authorities. There is an evolution of finance as there is an evolution of species. The world is progressing beyond Adam Smith and Marco Polo. You know I told you sub rosa that I did not think Mr. Bryan would be elected in '00, but I think his chances much better now. The future of the republic is imperiled by imperialism, and the prosperity of the people by the British gold standard. There is a scramble for gold now all over Europe, and I hope they will break their necks scrambling for it. There is a scramble for it in Wall Street, too, which is likely to increase in the next year or two. They will juggle along till they strike another panic. I see that Lord Rothschild says in his testimony to the Royal Commission that if India absorbs gold to maintain the gold standard, she must part with it at times to keep good the reserves of the Bank of England. Another juggling scheme."

"We all have our faults, but the Senator is one of the most charming characters I have ever met. He is tall, I am glad to say, enormously rich in landed estates. I never met a public man with so much magnetism except, perhaps, John Van Buren, George H. Pendleton, William M. Leach, Mr. Blaine, Governor Seymour and Wendell Phillips."

Owing to the dense ignorance of Wall Street on the currency question, I have (in my mind) started a plan for a Wall Street university, which shall yearly turn out Napoleons of finance. I presume that Russell Sage, Henry Green and the Ivoraes would subscribe half a million each for such an institution, for then there would be no excuse for blighting lumps. I suggested the idea to Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan and asked him if I should put him down for half a million; but he did not seem to see it. The curriculum would consist of polemics, financial evolution, ethics, tickers, etc. Some claim that Cleveland, as an encyclopedia, should be president, but I am in favor of Lentz, of Ohio. My friend, Mr. Keene, would probably deliver a course of lectures on the "Mysteries of Udoipol and Finance as a Fine Art."

The agents and parasites of the British gold standard will probably insist that we send our navy to assist "our faithful ally" to conquer the Boers; but the masses of the people will exclaim with the grand, dauntless and incorruptible Tillman: "To hell with England!" Oom Paul is not fond of the Britishers, for they have made him and to me. Most of the British just and conquest as we are making the British hate Yankee greed. Howard Hillegass, in his "Oom Paul's People," gives the ideas of the grand old man as follows: "Our people increased in number, and as the years passed established a form of government such as yours in America. The British thought they were better able to govern us than we were ourselves, and once took our country from us. Their defeat at Laing's Neck and Marjuba Hill taught them that we were fighters, and they gave us our independence, and allowed us to live peacefully for a number of years. They did not think the country valuable enough to warrant the repetition of the fighting for it. When it became known all over the world twelve years ago that the most extensive gold fields on the globe had been discovered in our apparently worthless country England became envious and in plans to annex such a valuable prize. Thousands of people were attracted hither by our wonderful gold mines at Johannesburg, and the English statesmen renewed their attacks on us. They made all sorts of pretenses to rob us of our country, and when they could not do it in a way that was honest and would be commended on by other nations, they planned the Jameson raid, which was merely a bold attempt to steal our country."

Wall Street in a year or two will be so hungry for gold to redeem fifty billions of credits that it will land England to the skies in her attempts to subdue the Transvaal and confiscate the gold mines. The British gold standard is the logical sequence of the British imperial policy of conquest. The Philippines and the Boers appeal to the God of battles and the civilized world. In connection with the university I also propose to incorporate

The Wall Street Zoological Gardens and National Dime Museum.

An Institution Devoted to the Study of Human and Animal Curiosities.

The bulls, bears, lions, tigers, kangaroos and monkeys of the New York Stock Exchange would be on constant exhibition. My Philippine's Yellow Elephant Trust will also, if possible, send out Mark Hanna to catch Aguinaldo and bring him over, though Schurman reports that "the world's hero" refused his bribe to play the role of Benedict Arnold and betray his country.
